Social Welfare Policy

The colleges object to support students, improve access to higher education and ensure that the college activities are conducive to society welfare. This policy can vary significantly time to time and may include the following components:

- Grants and Scholarships provide financial assistance that does not need to be repaid, often based on academic achievement, financial need, or other criteria.
- Fees installment facility offered to lower income students.
- Affordable hostel facility is render for economically weaker and rural student especially for those with financial need.
- Provide access to free or low-cost health counseling and check-up services to all.
- Providing students with internet connectivity through computer lab to ensure they have the necessary technology for online learning.
- Offering career counseling services to help exiting and Ex-students.
- Promoting diversity, equity and inclusion on campus through programs, workshops, and resources.
- Establishing funds to provide emergency financial assistance to students facing unexpected crises or hardships.
- Providing education and resources to help students make informed financial decisions and manage their finances effectively.
- Offering legal advice and assistance to students, particularly in cases involving housing, employment, or immigration issues.
- Ensuring that college campus and materials are accessible to students with disabilities and providing necessary accommodations.
- Establishing centers or offices that advocate for students' rights and provide support for various challenges they may encounter.
- Encouraging students to engage with their communities through service learning opportunities and volunteering
- Promoting environmental sustainability on campus and encouraging students to participate in eco-friendly practices.

Social welfare policies for colleges should be designed to address the specific needs of the student population and promote inclusivity, affordability, and success in higher education. Additionally, these policies may be funded through a combination of government support, institutional resources, and private sector partnerships.
