Scope of the Course:

An introductory course in Political Science offers a comprehensive exploration of fundamental concepts, theories, and practices within the discipline. Covering a wide scope, it delves into political ideologies, comparative politics, international relations, and the intricacies of political institutions and processes. Students gain insights into the dynamics of power, the role of government, and the complexities of global politics. The course not only introduces key theoretical frameworks but also encourages critical thinking, ethical considerations, and an understanding of contemporary political challenges. By examining real-world issues and fostering a global perspective, it equips students with a foundational knowledge base and analytical skills essential for navigating the complexities of political systems and participating as informed citizens in a diverse and interconnected world.
